

Doster — Situated along the shaded shores of Pine Lake, 12 miles north of Kalamazoo and adjacent to this Barry County Village, is one of the most unique educational institutions for war veterans in the entire United States.

It is a veritable "dream spot," the sort of thing a young man overseas might conjure in his imagination but never expect to see.

It is a practical emblem of Michigan's generosity to its sons who served the Nation in World War I.

We refer to the Michigan Veterans' Vocational School, operated by the State of Michigan and administered by the Western Michigan College of Education at Kalamazoo.

We arrived at the Pine Lake School, as it is generally called, just as dinner was being served in the long administration building.

Windows of the dining hall overlook the sky-blue waters of Pine Lake. The scene is that of a summer resort rather than a college campus. In front of the main building is a bathing beach. Boats are tied up to a wood pier. A float with diving board is moored in deep water.

In a grove of tall trees are 25 log cabins.

After dinner the veterans lounge about. Some go swimming. It is a twilight time for relaxation. A bus-load of girls from Kalamazoo is due to arrive at 8 P. M. for juke-box dancing and eats.

"And what kind of courses are offered at this bit of paradise?" you ask.

Commander Harry W. Lawson, director, places emphasis upon vocational training—the teaching of useful trades. These include business education, home appliances, repair, machine shop, printing, radio and typewriter repair, and watch and clock repair.

Modern tools are provided for the instruction. The printing department in which we were personally interested, has a modern typesetting machine and a full line of printing equipment.

Ross, printing instructor, served in the Canadian Air Force.

We became interested in the story of "Ike" Permelia, a Negro double amputee.

"Ike" served in the Signal Corps for five years. While on combat duty in Germany, he lost both hands. Percy Jones general hospital equipped him with mechanical fingers, and "Ike" became a student at Pine Lake in February.

One of the three Negro veterans out of nearly 180 at Pine Lake, "Ike" is popular with his fellows. He never asks for sympathy, never whimpers. Although he gets $200 a month for his disability, "Ike" wants to live a useful life and do his part. He has plenty of guts.

We admire his courage and his cheerful outlook. He is a real American.

Travel Notes: A "must" in our trailer kitchen-pantry is a charcoal discovery, smokeless, made by George LeBlance, Jr. George distributed samples at the newspaper editors' outing June 25-27. We promptly ordered a case.

The product is lake huckle, or sucker, to old-timers. The smoked flavor is similar to tuna or salmon.

As you drive north on US-31, leaving Beulah, a new industry featuring delicious frozen pies—cherry and apple—"Pet-Ritz," on Orchard Hill, is the result of a Beulah cherry pie recipe developed by the mother of Althea Kraker, until recently a coed at Michigan State College.

Everyone is happy. Summer trailers colony on Lake Michigan at Holland. A marvelous resort for parents with children and with money. Meals at Ivy-green Castle Inn. Trained supervisors for youngsters at beach. Horse-back riding, tennis, golf. Dancing on cement circle high above lake. Sons and mothers, daughters and fathers, all join in "grand march."

SIXTY-FIRST YEAR • NO. 31 GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1948 10 PAGES • PRICE 5 CENTS

Second Canoe Championship Seen Fall's Biggest Sporting Event

Sept. 11 at 3 Is Zero Hour

The beautiful historic AuSable River, scene of great activity during Michigan's golden lumber era, will again be the stage for Michigan's largest sporting event of the fall season, the 2nd Annual Michigan Canoe Championship Race, September 11-13. On September 11th at 3:00 p. m. (EST) the first of an estimated 60 canoes will take to the water at Grayling (On U.S. 27) starting point for the 240-mile non-stop canoe race and head for the finish line at Oscoda, AuSable, near the shores of Lake Huron. At 10 second prizes, other canoes participating in this big event will follow to compete for $1,400.00 in cash awards and trophies. Time handicaps will be adjusted at the last portage so that the first canoe and team crossing the finish line WILL be declared the winner.

It's a far cry from Michigan's early days when stalwart braves traveled this scenic wilderness route in search of game and food. They made the hard trip in rough birch-bark and dugout canoes. The present day "braves" equipped with modern, trim speedy canoes will be seeking glory and "cold" cash. The pageantry, rivalry and excitement will make this event a worthy one from a spectator's viewpoint.

There are many excellent vantage points along the AuSable for viewing the progress of the race. Among them are: Stephan Bridge, Wakely Bridge, McMaster Bridge, Mio Dam, McKinley Bridge, Alcona Dam, Loud Dam, Five Channels Dam, Cook Dam, Foote Dam and back banks of the river at the bridge at the finish line in Oscoda.

Many of the 1947 contestants are returning to enter the race again this fall in an effort to wrest the championship from Allen Carr and Del Case, two Grayling "huskies" who covered the course in 21 hours and 45 minutes under ideal weather conditions. Brawn and endurance, coupled with their knowledge of the river, proved a winning factor for Carr and Case. Six power dams, over power dams, are just a few of the hazards along this AuSable river course. The backwaters behind these dams proved a stumbling block for more than one entry in 1947, because most of these waters are traversed during the night. Lights will be permitted, although many contestants found them a handicap instead of a help once they became accustomed to the darkness. Of the 48 teams that started the race, only 15 crossed the finish line.

At Grayling a program of entertainment will be staged prior to the start of the race. At Oscoda, Michigan, the race will conclude with a program of entertainment.

GREENFIELD-CORWIN VOWS SPOKEN

Janet Emma Greenfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Greenfield of Clinton, Michigan, became the bride of Donald F. Corwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corwin at Grayling at a double ring ceremony read by Rev. O. E. Priest in the First Congregational Church at Clinton, on July 31, at 8:30 P. M. Baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers made a lovely setting as the bride entered to the music of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Mrs. John Fox. Mrs. Ray Griffin of Adrian sang "Because," "Always" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown and carried a cascade of white roses and mums. The bride's maids, Miss Marjorie Greenfield, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Baird, the matron of honor, the groom's sister, Mrs. DeAlton Griffith were attired in identical gown of white organza over blue satin, styled like the bride's with a sweetheart neck line and blue headpiece. They carried arm bouquets of pink gladioli and yellow lilies.

Little Ardis Corwin strewn petals from a white basket tied with blue ribbon and wore a dress matching those of the bridesmaids. The groom and Eugene Corwin, the groom's brother, were best man, Charles Corwin, Jr., and Ted Greenfield were ushers.

A reception in the church parlors for 150 guests followed, given by the bride's parents. Music during the reception was furnished by Mrs. Anne Wilson.

The bride is a graduate of Clinton High School and a 1946 graduate of the Alexandria School of Cosmetology, Arbor. Corwin is a 1946 graduate of Grayling High School and has been attending a radio and television school in Detroit the past two years.

The young couple left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, a home which they will make their home in Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corwin, Sr. and Ernest Corwin of Roscommon were among those who attended the wedding.

Ella Mae Cook celebrated her 10th birthday, Monday, August 2, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Wilbur Winflow. A few of her friends came to help her celebrate. Games were played, prizes going to Ronny Hoehner, Yvonne Millikin, Richard Cook, Sandra Novell, Cake and ice cream were served to the children and Ella Mae received many nice gifts.

transport the main body of troops. All troops will be encamped by Saturday evening, August 7.

Major rail moves are scheduled at 7:30 p. m., August 6, from Detroit and Grand Rapids. Kalamazoo units will entrain at 11:45 p. m., Friday, with Pontiac getting under way at 12:15 a. m., Saturday, and Flint at 1:30 a. m.

A total of 3,185 officers and men will make the movement by rail and the balance by motor vehicles. The rail move will include 25 separate trains made up of pullmans, baggage and flat cars.

Feature event of the encampment will occur Saturday afternoon, August 8, when Governor Kim Sigler and Major General Ralph A. Loveland, commanding general, will review the combined strength of the Michigan National Guard. Governor Sigler will also address the assembled troops at the traditional memorial services on Division Hill at Camp Grayling, Sunday morning, August 9.

Friends and relatives of the Guardsmen are invited to visit Camp Grayling for the weekend with both fixed and flexible calibers of all types.

Completing the early phases of their training schedule on time despite somewhat unfavorable flying weather on Tuesday, the airmen will participate in gunnery practice for the remainder of the first week of training. Pilots and crews of the Air Guard's P-51's and B-26's will receive training in air-to-air firing, air-to-ground firing with both fixed and flexible calibers of all types.

Site of the gunnery training for the airmen of the Michigan National Guard is the lower Oscoda Gunnery Range operated by the Air Forces on the shores of Lake Huron. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Van Tilburg of Lansing enjoyed the week end in Lovells occupying the Granddad Caid cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee and son, Owen, also Owen's friend, Jim Goerke of Dearborn, returned home, having spent two weeks in Lovells. While here they occupied the C. Stillwagon house.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lamphier and daughter, Susan, of Saginaw spent a few days with the Bob Stecklings.

A nice party again was held at Town Hall Friday night. A good big crowd and a good time enjoyed by all. These parties are for all every two weeks and every Saturday night. All can dance at same place to the Rhythm King's Orchestra.

Mary Marguerite Archer is spending her summer vacation in Lovells with her mother, Mrs. J. Horsell, and also working part time at Patrick Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Horsell entertained a number of relatives from Vanderbit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harwood of Grayling were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moores.

Our Pacific Trust

Saipan, Truk, Bikini are familiar names, but who has heard of Lib, Ngoli, Kapingamarangi? They are all within what is now the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. This Trust Territory, comprising the Marshall, Caroline and Mariana groups of islands, extends about a thousand miles north from the equator and includes a greater part of the area from Hawaii to the Philippines—two million square miles of water surrounding a myriad of tiny and larger tropical islands. Only 117 of them are inhabited by a total of 50,000 natives of Polynesian or Micronesian extraction. Formerly under German control, they were mandated to Japan following World War I and are now under our official wing.

Placed under Naval Military government following the conclusion of World War II, a program for bettering conditions was immediately started. Every village, no matter how small, over this vast area, was officially visited and complete data gathered.

It was determined that what was needed was not military domination but friendly aid and co-operation to help these people become self-reliant, establish better health and sanitation, elementary education, safeguard their lands and resources, develop their trade, industry and agriculture, and the physical restoration of war damaged property.

For the past two years, this plan has been materializing under the guidance of Rear Admiral C. H. Wright.

Seven dispensaries of from 25 to 80-bed capacity are located throughout the area. A training program is supplying native teachers for island schools. A trading system provides them with needed goods, while at the same time marketing products—copra and handicraft.

A most admirable phase of this whole program is that the natives are not asking for or getting handouts. We are giving medical assistance and help in instances but otherwise they are rapidly getting on their own.

FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

August 6, 1925

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McKinley celebrated their "golden wedding" Monday by taking the day off and making a trip with relatives and friends to Charlevoix, Petoskey and Pine Lake.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson of Jackson is the guest of Mrs. Ruth McConnell.

Miss Emma Hum is entertaining Miss Alice Bourner of Detroit.

Miss Mollie Johnson of Bay City is spending her vacation in Grayling with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Johnson.

Mrs. Charles Hewitt and little son of Bay City arrived the first of the week and are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fletcher, at the military reservation.

Mrs. A. Kraus is enjoying a month's visit, dividing her time among her children; her daughter, Mrs. Freeman of Grand Rapids, son George and family of Chicago, and son Ben of Elkhorst, Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ziebell, Mr. and Mrs. Adler Jorgenson, and Mrs. Anna Hermann visited at Onaway, Sunday.

Mrs. Ollie McLeod and daughter, Helen Elaine returned Friday from Oshkosh, Wisconsin, after a two week visit with relatives.

Melvin Brockman of Chicago arrived in Grayling Saturday to spend the month visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brockman, east of the city.

Miss Lola Craven of Frederic motored to Mt. Pleasant, Sunday to spend some time with her sister, Erma, who is attending Central State Normal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. George Schaible entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baumgras and Mr. and Mrs. Claud Ryan of Lansing, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Moyer of Chicago at a dinner at Lovell's Tuesday evening.

John H. Cook of Detroit arrived in town Saturday for a weeks visit with old Grayling friends. While here he is a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Will Green.

In honor of her friend, Miss Chappel of Detroit, Miss Murray entertained 12 ladies with a bridge party at Murray Lodge, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. George Alexander and Mrs. C. G. Clippert received the prizes for high score.

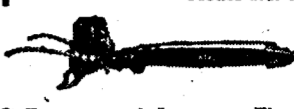

Alfred Hanson has purchased the auto service station of Hans R. Nelson. Mr. Nelson has been in business for a number of years and has built up a thriving trade. He plans to take a vacation this winter and next spring take up the project of plating the farm of his father, the late Peter Nelson at Lake Margrethe. Mr. Hanson needs no introduction to Grayling people. For a number of years he has been bookkeeper for the Hanson Land and Lumber Co., also clerk of Grayling Township for many years, which task he has handled with great efficiency. He is commander of Grayling Legion Post and is generally popular and well liked by all.

John and Leonard Isenhauer and families enjoyed a visit from their sister, Mrs. Mary Young, of Twinning. The latter was accompanied by Mrs. Edward Young and children of the same place.

Wherever you go, they're talking DYNAFLOW

FROM Atlantic to Pacific, it's simply terrific.

Not in a generation—maybe not in two—has any single improvement in automobiles caused the talk or met the instant approval that has greeted this new drive.

You see the reason in your first five minutes behind a Dynaflo* wheel.

You sense that this is not merely an improvement on old ways, but a whole new system of transferring power from your engine to the rear wheels.

For the first time, oil does everything—replaces the friction clutch, eliminates the usual forward gears, even actuates the mechanism by which you change from Driving range to emergency Low and Reverse.

You feel the result in new smoothness that's like riding a mighty tide of flowing oil.

You move from standstill to road speed in one smooth unbroken sweep of power, quick and effortless in getaway and instantly responsive at speed.

You stop by pressing the foot-brake—go again by feeding gas. Once you've set the selector lever, you need not touch it again in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

Outside engineers look at Dynaflo and say, "Now you've got something!"

You'll say so too—once you handle a Buick ROADMASTER with this new driving magic.

Try it, first chance you get—and we think you'll want to see your Buick dealer at once to get an order in—with or without a car to trade.

*Dynaflo Drive is available at extra cost on Buick Roadmaster models only.

Every

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday

The so-called Lower Peninsula of Michigan is one of the country's greatest vacation playplaces, and little wonder that hundreds of thousands of beauty-loving visitors from the 48 states troop in to enjoy its green forests, its excellent fishing—and, above all, its glorious summer climate.

Climate par-excellence, for Michigan's expanses are air-conditioned with water-washed breezes, breezes perfumed by the pine and cedar, and with all the exhilaration of rare old wine.

The Lower Peninsula of Michigan lies like a great hand, Saginaw Bay cutting in on the eastern coast to form the Thumb, and the western coast and the Leelanau Peninsula representing the little finger.

Here is everything the beauty-lover and vacationist might want in natural beauty and the advantages that go with the perfect play-place—the deep green forest and the unforgettable blue of thousands of lakes... miles of white beaches and tumbling rivers in which trout gambol... picturesque little bays reminiscent of the Gaspe Peninsula and areas of fruit orchards as productive as anything in the Yakima Country... cool retreats deep in the pines... In this story we shall treat only that area extending northward from an imaginary line drawn east-west from Bay City to Muskegon... the area spreading in its blue-green while the summer months of the cold months that entire area goes in for winter sports and elaborate carnivals, but it is in summer that the country really takes down its hair and plays wholeheartedly. And it is in summer, of course, that the millions of tourists pour in for their days of delight on the water and in the woods, with road and camera, in lazy hours beside blue lakes and in evenings beneath a silver moon hanging so low you feel you can reach out and touch it.

It would be a bodiless task even to attempt to parade a detailed treatise on where to go and what to see, so we'll just sort of skitter here and there, and hit the high spots... or highlights... in this magnificent play which we have at our very door.

We'll start in at Bay City, with the blue of Saginaw Bay to the eastward, and northward, a trail leading into the heart of the Huron National Forest, the Houghton Lake State Forest, the Huron National Forest and the AuSable State Forest.

On into Cheboygan we go, the Cheboygan with its Mullet Lake and Aloha State Park, and there are Burt Lake and Douglas Lake, all favored playplaces. From Cheboygan into Mackinaw City we are skirting the blue waters across which we see Bois Blanc Island, Round Island and Mackinac Island in the distance.

Once in Mackinaw City we are in an entrancing place in its own right, what with Indians strolling its streets and denting Michilimackinac State Park, site of old Fort Michilimackinac and scenes of the bloody massacre in 1763. A replica of the old fort has been built.

Of course we park the car at Mackinaw City and take a boat for Mackinac Island, for that automobileless vacation paradise is an emphatic "must" for everyone who likes the unusual. From end to end Mackinac Island is filled with interest.

Arch Rock where Indian legend has it, Gitchie Manitou passed through from his land into place in his home in Sugar Loaf itself, where the Indians believed that the Great Spirit was fed by the bees... old Fort Mackinac, overlooking the harbor, built by the British in 1780 and restored to its original condition.

Skull Cave, where Alexander Henry, one of the few survivors of the massacre, was fed by his adopted brother, famous Chief Wawatam... the John Jacob Astor trading post... the old cemetery in which sleep those identified with the early days on the island... the monument to Jean Nicolet... on and on and on until you find it hard to believe that you actually are seeing such spots in this modern world of ours. Next we'll swing southward into Petoskey on Little Traverse Bay, westward on LeVerger and go into Cross Village, an almost wholly Indian town, and follow the magnificent scenic highway along the bluffs high over Lake Michigan. This drive from Cross Village and into Harbor Springs is, to my way of thinking, one of the most beautiful drives in all of Michigan.

If you're interested in Indians... and who isn't?... you'll find 'em all along this stretch of country. Around Petoskey descendants of Chief Petoskey-gah still till the soil, and throughout the area there are colorful individuals who might have stepped from the pages of a best seller.

The Traverse City section is a vacation paradise in its own right, notably the famous Leelanau Peninsula, with its Lake Leelanau and its Glen Lake. There are Northport and Northport Point for lake trout trolling and there are the world-famous Sleeping Bear Dunes high above Lake Michigan.

Of course you'll look in on Interlochen and the National Music Camp, for there assemble the great of the musical world through the summer months.

Right on down the coast we travel, with a little time for Benzie State Park on Platte Lake, a few hours on beautiful Crystal Lake around Beulah and a look-see at Frankfort, an important port on the western shores of the state.

Southward out of Frankfort you have more lakes and more state parks and we'll see Manistee and Ludington, with its Ludington State Park and Orchard Beach State Park at Manistee, and just a bit inland, the great expanse of Manistee National Forest, one of the largest national forest areas in the state.

On southward out of Ludington into Silver Lake State Park and Whitehall on Muskegon Lake and then Muskegon on Muskegon Lake and on Lake Michigan, with the beautiful expanse that is Muskegon State Park and the surrounding country that is almost as interesting.

We jump over to Cadillac for a few hours in the William Mitchell State Park on Lake Mitchell and for an hour or so around Lake Cadillac itself. Just east of Cadillac are Lake Missaukee as well as a dozen surrounding lakes and, of course, Lake City State Park.

A bit farther and you are in the center of a great playplace. There are Houghton Lake and Higgins Lake, both expanses of blue water in which the summer vacationist finds pleasures galore. There are fishing and boating and lazy hours along sandy beaches. There are Houghton Lake State Forest and Huron National Forest and Higgins Lake State Forest if you like spreading woodlands. There is Grayling, on the AuSable River and near Lake Margrethe, and the famous Hartwick Pines State Park, with one of the few remaining stands of the giant pine which first brought settlers into Michigan.

Yes, all of Michigan is a playplace... a land of lakes and beaches and forests... an air-conditioned land whose breezes are washed as they pass over the surrounding open waters... a country where the climate is delectable winter and summer and where the home folks are hospitable... the very heart's desire of the man or woman who seeks peace and beauty to heal nerves frayed by the roar of urban life. So... I give you the Lower Peninsula of Michigan.

WHY PERIODIC OIL CHANGES?

FOR NORMAL DRIVING

FOR HIGH SPEEDS

It is obvious economy to change oil instead of changing rings, pistons and bearings. Clean, full-bodied oil will prevent excessive engine wear indefinitely.

Engine oil takes a terrific beating under any circumstances. For instance, do you know the average crankshaft makes approximately 3 million revolutions while you drive 1000 miles? Meanwhile the pistons have made 6 million trips up and down in the cylinders. Some wear takes place of course.

But wear is very slight IF the oil is right.

So we recommend your oil be checked every 1000 miles. If it is dirty and carries abrasive particles of grit and metal change it at once. If it is clean simply add R. O. C. for normal driving or NORTHLAND Motor Oil for high sustained speeds.

SHORT STORY

Secret Of the Locket

By EDWARD LEE

SILAS HENBURY, wedged into a chair tilted against the counter, was slipping into his regular after-dinner snooze when the door opened. The customer was an elderly woman.

Silas rose and the chair creaked its relief. He clumped behind the counter and said: "Good evening, ma'am. Something I can do for you?"

"Wh-why, yes, I suppose so. At least, I hope so."

"Anything within reason. That's why I'm called 'Uncle Silas.' My customers are just like relatives to me."

"That makes it easier. I never had to pawn anything before. But..."

Her voice trailed into silence. Silas knew that when she continued, throughout her story would run the same theme as countless others to which he had listened during his 40 years in the pawnbroker business. He nodded his head encouragingly.

"This gold locket," she said, unfolding her hands to reveal the trinket, "was presented to me by my husband when we were married. No matter how often we moved trying to better our circumstances, they never improved. After his death last year things became worse. I sold most of my valuables. But this... I just couldn't. I only want a loan on this locket, for some day I shall redeem it."

"But to every pawn shop I've gone, they refuse to lend me any money. They say it is not valuable enough to be held as security. 'We'll soon see,' said Silas. He lightly scratched the surface of the locket with a penknife. Into that shallow furrow he let fall a few drops of acid, then shook his head as a greenish tinge appeared, saying: "I'm sorry, but this locket's only value is as a keepsake. It's tin."

THE woman looked bewildered. "I can't understand it. There must be some mistake. Look here," she directed, unfastening the trinket. Its two heart-shaped halves swung open and she pointed to metal that encircled two miniature portraits. "See how bright and solid that is?"

"That photograph favors you, ma'am, even though it was taken when you were younger."

"Forty years younger, to be exact, when I was married. The opposite one is of my husband. It favors him too."

"I'm sure it does. Looks like he was a fine man."

"He was. Folks said he was unreliable and irresponsible. I suppose Henry was, in a way. But they were his only faults."

"Pardon my asking, but you loved him a great deal?"

"Yes, and, I still do," she answered. Then, regarding him with a quizzical look, said: "Why did you ask?"

"Well, I just kind of thought a woman wouldn't stay married forty years unless she loved her husband a great deal," Silas said.

years unless she loved her husband a great deal."

"You make me feel noble," she replied. "Now, concerning this locket..."

Her words recalled Silas to the business at hand. He said: "I was mistaken. The inside was what convinced me."

Silas gave her the money she requested and closed the deal. Her fervent thanks made him glad that he had gone through with the deception.

For, he had recognized Agnes Fremont's picture. That was how he had looked when she had rejected him to marry his cousin, Henry, whose photograph appeared in the locket's other half.

For, he had recognized Agnes Fremont's picture. That was how he had looked when she had rejected him to marry his cousin, Henry, whose photograph appeared in the locket's other half.

Silas had known Henry was unreliable and irresponsible but he did not criticize him to her. Leaving home, he had never written or returned. Thus, Silas had lost all trace of Henry and Agnes until tonight when he had recognized her picture in the locket.

Silas knew Agnes still loved Henry and would be hurt to learn the truth. And, Silas still loved her so much that he had created a certain way to insure her remaining ignorant of Henry's deception. That was, to advance so large an amount in the locket that she would never be able to redeem it.

TRAFFIC

which have their roots in other causes. Often, they stem from frustration, irritation, emotional upsets — a calling-down by the boss, a quarrel with the wife or husband, business deal gone sour, or a thousand and one other things which have little to do with the motorist's immediate driving problem. Human nature? Maybe, but if there is a single underlying factor to blame for the vast majority of our highway deaths and injuries, safety specialists believe it is a faulty driving attitude on the part of motorists.

Traffic records gathered over a period of many years show that driver violations or unsafe practices contributed to 84 per cent of all accidents. Of these, excessive speed, intoxication and driving on the wrong side of the road continue to be named as the three leading causes, accounting for 40 per cent. But they are only the final physical causes observed by witnesses of the accidents, the last link in a chain of events which probably began with an emotional upset the driver was unable to forget when he got behind the wheel; or, even farther back, with a basically wrong outlook on the privileges and responsibilities of driving a car.

Driving a car is a combination of two types of actions. The first are the automatic acts, such as shifting gears, avoiding obstacles, and the like. The second, and more important, are the acts involving problems and decisions, such as: "Should I pass that car?" "Do I have the right of way?" "The decisions that a motorist makes determine the kind of driver he is."

In turn, the driver's ability to make wise decisions on short notice depends to a considerable degree on the kind of person he is. We often describe drivers as reckless, careless, impatient, nervous, "show-offs," "day dreamers," "road hogs." Extremes of anger, impatience, anxiety, timidity and bravado all are signs of maladjustment. All are dangerous attitudes on the highway.

Faulty driving attitudes which are deeply ingrained are hard to correct. They can be corrected, however, if driving a car is thought of not as a right, but as a privilege, and if traffic authorities and the public will co-operate in demanding high standards of driving skill and maintaining thorough law enforcement.

Not only are faulty attitudes hard to correct, but they are also contagious; they are often communicated to children by their parents. Best hope for future drivers lies in the program of driver education and behind-the-wheel training being inaugurated in increasing numbers in the nation's schools.

Jet Injection

A new method of injecting drugs and toxins that uses no syringe, no needles and virtually eliminates all objectionable pain associated with the needle technique, has been announced by medical authorities.

Called jet injection, this new technique is based on the fact that extremely high pressure jets of fluid are capable of piercing the human skin in such a fine stream that little or no pain is experienced by the patient.

In operation, the drug to be injected is first placed in a small metal tube that is shaped like a blunt-nosed bullet and has in its tip a tiny hole measuring only three-thousandths of an inch in diameter. The other end is closed with a rubber plug.

This little tube is then encased in a sterile aluminum container which is then placed in the "injecting instrument." This instrument is about the size of a pen, self flashlight and looks much like one, except it has an enclosed calibrated high tension spring instead of batteries.

The spring is controlled by a release button, which when pressed, pushes a plunger against the rubber plug in the bullet-nosed tube. This forces the liquid injection through the tiny hole as a fine, high-velocity jet under pressures between 2,300 to 3,500 pounds per square inch. The liquid comes out in such a fine sharp stream that it pierces the skin, giving little or no pain.

There are a few mechanical kinks in the device still to be corrected before it can be put into general practice. The medical scientists who developed the jetor are hopeful this is some day will completely replace the syringe and needle-nary drug administration.

Grayling Ground Loons

The Weekly Breakfast Flights are becoming quite popular. Last Sunday Douglas Knuth, Herbert Feldhauser, Forrest Annis, Wm. MacLeod, along with Instructor Herbert McDonnell flew to Grand Marais for breakfast. Besides having a good time on the trip they returned with information about the facilities and attractions of the area.

Grand Marais is one of the best spots for deep water fishing. Lake trout seem to make their home thereabouts. The fisherman brought home a 20 pound trout caught on a fly rod. (No fish story; we saw it!)

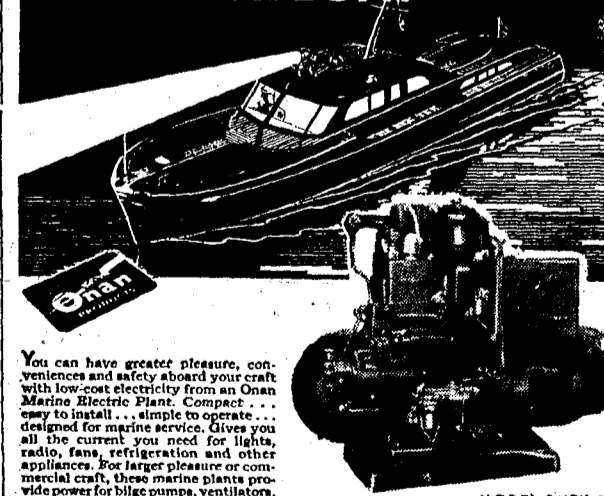

For five dollars you get a room and two meals. Boat rental costs $3.50 per hour with a $17.50 minimum charge for the day. This includes all fuel, bait, and even having the bait placed on the hook for the squemish. When you consider that a boat can handle up to 20 fishermen the charge is small.

Grand Marais is another town that would like an airport like the McNamara Field. Runways are good but very solid. Growing a good sod runway on sandy soil is difficult. While the airport is about five miles from town, a telephone call to the lodge brings free transportation for flyers to the lodge.

Last week the Bellanca was put to work as a family plane. With the three children in the back seat, his wife, Evelyn in the front seat, Clayton McDonnell piloted them.

The first grapevines in Europe were planted on the Rhine River by the German King Ludwig in 842 A. D.
